

Bicycle Won for $41.65, News to Auction Gas

Winners of the News-sponsored mail auction last week were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf C. Wagner of Oakwood Knolls. They won a completely outfitted 1962 Ranger bicycle, which sold on retail at $44.65. The Wagners, whose 6-year-old son Lawrence Steven will enjoy the bike, bid $41.65.

The bicycle was purchased from Card's Cycle and Hobby Shop.

The Wagner family have been residents of Oakwood Knolls for 7 years. They considered their bid to be a "fair price for the bicycle." Mrs. Wagner stated that bicycle riding today provided "good exercise" for the boys.

The Antioch News will sponsor their second auction this week. The News is offering 100 gallons of ethyl gas purchased from Al's City Service Station, to the highest bidder. Retail price of the gasoline is 30c per gallon, or $30.00 for the 100 gallons.

Coupons must be filled out and sent to the Antioch News before midnight Wednesday, August 8, when the contest closes. A coupon can be found elsewhere in this week's edition of the News. The contest begins officially with this week's publication date.

Donald J. Sheehan Returns from Spain

DAVISVILLE, R. I. (FHT NC) — Donald J. Sheehan, constructionman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sheehan of Antioch, Ill., is serving with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion Seven, which returned from Rota, Spain, to its home base at Davisville, R. I., July 21.

Members of the battalion teamed up before leaving Davisville in January and collected 5,400 pounds of used clothing and toys. The material was repaired, packed, and transported to Spain, where it was passed out to hundreds of needy families in the neighboring communities.

In the line of duty the Seabee unit completed construction projects at the large naval activity in Rota. Detachments of the unit were also deployed to Bermuda, Newfoundland and Sicily for similar commitments.

The battalion will spend four months in the U. S., during which they will be granted leave and undergo extensive combat infantry training, before its next overseas assignment.

Driver Leaves Accident Site

Sheriff's Deputy Cassidy recently reported that an accident involving a Waukegan man and an unknown driver took place on Rte. 173 and Savage Road July 22 at 8:45 p.m.

Jerome J. Sima, 24, of Waukegan, reported that he had been proceeding west with traffic traveling at about 50 mph when he attempted to pass a red Chevrolet in front of him. The driver in front decided to pass at the same time and pulled into the passing lane.

Sima struck the other car from behind and halted to inspect the damages to his car. The driver of the Chevrolet left the scene of the accident without stopping. Damages were done to the left rear of the unknown driver's car.

No injuries were sustained by Sima and no citation was issued.

No, Hum-Meet The Bo Hum Ditt Dums

Louis Baffetti of Antioch, a mailman in Chicago for many years and now retired, will attend the National Letter Carriers Convention in Denver, Colorado.

The official name of the letter carrier's association is the National Association of Bo Hum Ditt Dums. Don't try to figure it out. It really doesn't mean anything, except to express the spirit of the organization—it's strictly for fun.

Mr. Baffetti, who holds the position which would be that of president in most organizations, has the title of M.W. B.H.—Most Wonderful Bo Hum. The vice president is the G.B.H.—Grand Bo Hum. The secretary is the M.H.—Majestic Hum. Treasurer, M. D. D.—Master Ditt Dum. Sergeant at arms, R.C.B.—Royal Cheese Bear.

Local organizations of the Bo Hum Ditt Dums meet monthly. A state convention is held every year and a national convention once every two years. They're dedicated to having fun at their conventions—but "No rough stuff," says Mr. Baffetti.

Satisfied Customer The Best Ad

Only our overwhelming modesty keeps us from printing the remark made by a satisfied advertiser when she paid for her classified ad which appeared in the Antioch News.

Our modesty went out to lunch. Said Mrs. Jack Meyer, who advertised her home for sale, "We had ads all over creation and this (The Antioch News) is the one that did it."

Resident Ticketed

An Antioch man was given a citation for an improper left turn which resulted in an accident last Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Floyd E. Garrison, 39, of Antioch, was proceeding south on Rte. 21 when he pulled onto the southbound shoulder after missing his intended turnoff at Rte. 45.

When he attempted to pull off the shoulder in a left turn around, he was struck by Richard F. Tykowski, 34, of Lake Villa, who was southbound on 21.

Lake County Sheriff deputies reported no injuries in the accident. Both men were driving station wagons. Garrison was ticketed.

Miss Johnson Chosen Queen

Barbara Johnson, 17, of Zion, was crowned Lake County Queen at the Lake County Fair Sunday night.

Miss Johnson is a beautiful apprentice. She won her title in competition with over fifty of Lake County's loveliest.

The eight judges, all bachelors from the Lake County Fair Association, first selected fifteen from the original field. The seven semi-finalists, chosen with difficulty by the judges, were Barbara Johnson, Candy Cameron, Gayle Nicholas, Betty Amoldola of Antioch, Karen Olson of Ingleside, Diane Neuroth of Lake Villa and Vivian Sauer of Grayslake.

Runner-up for Queen honors was Candy Cameron, 18, of Barrington. Candy will be a freshman at Western Illinois University this fall.

Second runner-up was Gayle Nicholas of Grayslake. She will be a freshman at Bradley University.

The Lake County Queen will become a contestant for the state crown at the Illinois State Fair. She received a week's vacation for two at the Crown Hotel in Miami, Florida, a wrist watch, a gift certificate from Fields Department Store in Zion, a gift certificate for dinner for two at the Charcol House, and $50.00.

All of the seven finalists received gift certificates from Fields, and dinner for two at the Charcol House, plus $25 to the six who failed in their bid for the crown. The two runners-up also received an extra gift, one a transistor radio and one a camera.

James Thurber was Chairman of the Beauty Pageant. The final judging for Queen, which was slated for Saturday night, was postponed until Sunday night when the fair was rained out Saturday.

Miss Johnson will serve as hostess of the Lake County Fair in 1963.

Mrs. Margaret Gaston, Publisher of the Antioch News, was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital Sunday for treatment.

Mrs. Gaston returned from the hospital on Tuesday.

Bank Executive & Wife Threatened on Monday

Unknown to the residents of Antioch, Lake County police officers staked out the 1st National Bank last Monday in hopes of nabbing three potential bank robbers who had earlier invaded the home of the bank's vice-president, E. J. Sletten.

The Sletten were awakened in the bedroom of their home about 2:30 a.m. on Monday by three hooded persons who bound them in cords, sheets and adhesive tape. Placing a spread over a lamp, the invaders forced the couple to swallow pills.

Mrs. Sletten was given pills for her heart condition and Mr. Sletten was given sleeping pills.

Speaking in whispers the invaders proceeded to question Mr. Sletten about the bank's operations. Mrs. Sletten stated that they knew everything about the bank and its employees. They knew when everyone came to work, what routes they used, when Mr. Sletten would occasionally stop at St. Peter's Church to attend an early mass, that Mrs. Sletten had been to Chicago to visit a doctor about her heart condition and further information pointing out careful and prolonged research on the bank's operations.

Three things of genuine interest to the intruders were where the stairs inside the bank led to, how much money was kept in the vault and who a new teller was.

When the last question was asked Mr. Sletten, he replied vaguely, apparently becoming nervous.

Report On Ill. Sales Tax

Springfield—City sales taxes collected in May on April tax liability grossed $5,371,986 and county sales taxes for the same period grossed $351,899, the Illinois Department of Revenue reported.

The collections from 1,151 cities and villages and 66 counties represent a tax of one-half per cent on retail sales in municipalities and parts of counties not in municipalities. Included in the gross collections for municipalities is Municipal Service Tax in the amount of $74,842 from 702 communities.

Gross collections from cities and villages were reduced by $212,316, the state's four per cent administration charge. Payments made under protest and withheld amounted to $56,207 and $7,868 was held in escrow. The net amount certified for cities and villages was $5,095,593.

A total of 1,152 municipalities have passed ordinances adopting the Municipal Retailers' Occupation Tax and 706 have adopted the Municipal Service Occupation Tax.

The Department of Revenue reported 66 counties have adopted the County Retailers' Occupation Tax and 51 counties collect the County Service Occupation Tax.

Lake County stands sixth in the amount of County Retailers' Occupation Tax and County Service Occupation Tax collected, with a total of $12,662.94. The Village of Antioch collected $4,664.20 for Municipal Retailers' Occupation Tax in April.

Both these amounts have had 4% administration expense deducted from the gross.

School Will Be Ready, Work Is In High Gear

A. L. Dittman, principal of the Antioch Township High School, said last week that he expected the new addition to the school to be in use when school starts in September, though probably not completed.

Work on the $975,000 addition was slowed by a strike of the mason's union in Lake County.

Mason's Strike Slows Work
Work on the school was stopped when the bricklayers' contract expired, with the Mason's Union and the Lake County Contractor's Association, still in disagreement as to wage scale for the new contract. Masons were demanding the same wage scale as is in effect for Chicago bricklayers. The strike lasted for about two weeks and ended when the contractors acceded to the masons' demands. The men returned to work Friday, July 20, to be "bumped off" the job again after a few hours' work when a minor disagreement on the contract arose. The men returned to work on Monday, July 23.

Completion By End of September
Mr. Dittman estimates that the building will be completed by the end of September.

September 4 was the original deadline. The courtyard between the original building and the new addition will be landscaped and there is a tentative plan to use the courtyard for a "theater under the stars." A movable band stand would function as a stage.

Most Areas Will Be Usable
Areas that must be completed by the opening of school are the Home Economics Dept., Boys' Physical Education Area, Girls' Physical Education area (the old cafeteria) and Administration area, says Mr. Dittman.

Some rest rooms and small facilities may not be completed by that time. However, Mr. Dittman says, "It's a type of construction that moves very rapidly. Everything is in high gear."

Increased Space Will Help Solve Problems
Mr. Dittman expects the increased space to have a good effect on student morale. "When you have more room, you have less problems."

Student Enrollment Up

Welcome to Antioch...$

We're sure it's unintentional, but the public parking lot on Broadway smacks of a trap to extract fines from unwary visitors to our city.

Driving into the lot through the south entrance on Broadway, there are no signs limiting parking. True, there is a large sign at the west end of the blacktop which says "24 Hour Parking behind this sign," but it does not specify any time limit in front of the sign.

Halfway down the lot, on each side, are two small, unobtrusive signs reading "Two-Hour Parking." One is nearly obliterated by two large yellow stars. We doubt if any one would notice them unless they parked very close to them.

There are no signs limiting parking at the entrance to the lot, nor close to it in an obvious place. We think there should be. An out-of-town visitor who received a ticket for overtime parking in this lot would be justified in feeling that he's been cheated.

A Design in Red

Like an inch-worm gnawing at the dwindling leaves of the Liberty Tree, communism advances on all fronts of the free world.

Through arbitration and appeasement forced at U. N. conference tables and by armed revolutions and minor wars in far-flung countries, the communist design is being completed.

What few realize is the fact that communism is succeeding in great strides to advance itself internally in the U. S. This has been brought about by many factors but the most important is capitulation of ideals.

The play-up of certain right-wing elements in America tends to portray ardent zealots as Fascists. The public reacts and sympathizes with the so-called "down-trodden" elements on the left. Communism never wins support, but is given outright aid to that cause dictating the ideological enslavement of the world by free people who mistakenly desire to accord every political movement its just due.

Being an American does not, however, make it mandatory that communism be embraced purely as an act of fairness.

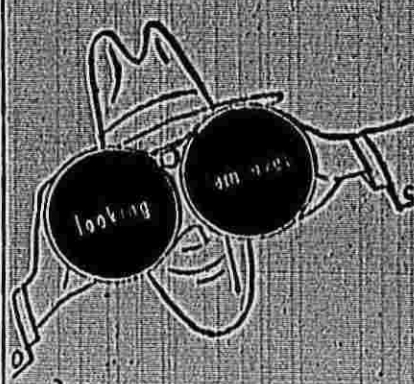

Communism is the sworn enemy of freedom. Communism does exist now as an aristocracy of police states. Communism will, if allowed, control the system of the world and thereby become the only doctrine of life.

Since we are compelled to fight communism in a preventive war of compromise, a constant vigil must be kept by all of us to ward off this threat to our lives and our heritage.

This means speaking out publicly in support of our country. This means taking an active part in government, even if only at the polls. This means to be aware that communism does exist and to be prepared to face it and fight it on any street corner in America.

By Jay Nash

ONE OF THE BEST ways for an individual to get financially ahead in life might be to buy or discover an obscure island off the U. S. coast. How would this help to improve one's financial status, you say. Easy.

Once on the island, you simply install some cheap prefabs, invite your relatives over to form the nucleus of your population, proclaim yourself monarch and send off a desperate wire to the State Department. The wire reads: "Impending communist takeover here, perils friendly pro-western government. Widespread depression and famine may cause populace to turn to communism as a last resort. Monies to stabilize government imperative. Please acknowledge." Signed King C. B. Victor, Island of Xipu.

A couple of million dollars will, no doubt, be in your possession by nightfall and will probably be delivered by helicopter express. Once in the chips, you retire in the private luxury provided by the U. S. Government. If, by any possibility, you run out of cash, just have another recession and once again point out the communist threat to your island. More millions will be given you without comment. Don't worry about investigation. The government would never offend you with such bothersome details as to how the money is spent.

LENGTHILY WRITTEN books seem to be the order of the day. An author of fact or fiction today feels it necessary to compile at least 1,000 pages before his so-called "masterpiece" is completed. William L. Shirer's Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, due to its length, cost me a good deal of money to read. I had to hire a little boy to turn the pages.

WHEN P. T. BARNUM began to make a reputation for himself as the original hustling huckster, the man who was attributed the quote, "there's a sucker born every minute," he fell victim to his own method of bilking the public.

Hearing of a 178-year old Negro woman named Joice Heath, who had, according to reliable sources, been the private nurse of George Washington, Barnum investigated the human phenomenon. He found a gnarled and wrinkled ancient who coherently recalled all of the childish habits of "baby George." After seeing apparently credible documents attesting to Joice Heath's age, he hired her and brought her to New York. Exhibiting the live relic at Fred Niblo's giant restaurant and showroom, Barnum made a fortune from the curiosity-seeking public. For years, his "Washington's nurse" exhibit greased his pockets with money.

Upon the death of Joice Heath, Barnum turned over the corpse to a doctor friend, who for years sought to study the weird phenomenon. In his studies, the doctor soon reported that Joice Heath was no more than 85 years old. Barnum, the great hoaxter, had been duped. His statement: "Incredible! I thought she was authentic." Yes, there's one born every minute, P. T.

RANDOM FACTS: Popularly misconceived facts about history are rampant and help to alter the aging face of humanity. For example, the Battle of Bunker Hill, famous in legend and story, never happened. No battle was ever fought at Bunker Hill, but on a neighboring mound called Breed's Hill. It just so happened that most of the generals were watching the battle from Bunker Hill. So too, must have been the writers who penned the account of the battle.

Your Governor Reports

by OTTO KERNER

In addition to helping maintain our state parks and other recreational areas, boys assigned to Illinois Youth Commission forestry camps perform many unusual and valuable services for our state that often go unnoticed.

For example, this year they completed a 22-mile trail from New Salem State Park to Springfield. To build "Lincoln Trail," as it is commonly referred to because it represents the route Abraham Lincoln walked from New Salem to Springfield, the boys cleared timber and hauled railroad ties for foot bridges and foot-holds in the hillsides.

In Southern Illinois the boys began a mammoth project this summer—building a 100-mile hiking and bridle path across the foothills of the Ozarks. When completed, this trail will offer our citizens a panoramic view of some of our most picturesque countryside that otherwise would be possible.

In times of emergency or disaster, the boys contribute many hours of valuable service to the communities in which their camps are located. They fight floods and fires, clean up after tornadoes, and shovel streets after blizzards.

Since February of this year, the boys at the Union Forest Camp near Jonesboro have fought 18 fires in the Shawnee Forest. It is estimated that each boy turns back $1,500 per year in services to the State of Illinois. Computing their services at the rate of $1.25 per hour (the prevailing wage for unskilled labor), camp officials figure that the boys in the 10 camps saved the state $443,000 last year.

The forestry camp program saves lands, lives, and dollars. While the boys learn valuable work habits and build healthy bodies in the vigorous outdoors, at the same time they are producing for the State of Illinois and saving thousands of dollars that otherwise the state would have to spend to keep our parks green and clean. Through the camp program, many boys discover the satisfaction of performing a service for others—of protecting property, rather than destroying it—of helping people, rather than harassing them.

The next time you picnic at one of our beautiful state parks, walk one of our scenic trails, or take a boat ride on one of our many lakes, it is quite likely that boys from one of the IYC forestry camps shared in making the facilities possible.

The Illinois State Fair will mark its 110th anniversary when it opens Aug. 10. Its agricultural nature will be enhanced this year when the centennial of the founding of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be observed. Three exhibits by the department will be on the grounds. Augmenting the agriculture prominence of the fair will be an exhibit by all the major farm machinery manufacturers who will combine to stage Farm-O-Rama.

While agriculture will always have the limelight at the Illinois State Fair, agriculture displays and exhibits alone cannot properly portray the diversified economy of our state. For this season industrial, scientific and educational exhibits, expanded last year, are being enlarged again this year.

The "Illinois Industrial Showcase" is a new attraction for the 1962 fair. It is expected that 20 or more industrial firms will have exhibits showing industrial progress in Illinois. A tobacco company will erect a model cigarette factory, and fair-goers will see how cigarettes are manufactured from raw tobacco to finished product. A glass-enclosed, air-conditioned building will be erected in the Exposition Building for this exhibit.

The number of scientific exhibits will also increase this year. The National Aeronautics and space agency exhibit of the Project Mercury Sheppard Space capsule will be featured as will exhibits from the Atomic Energy Commission nuclear center at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and several others.

All state universities will be represented by exhibits on education. The university of Illinois will feature agriculture, engineering and general extension services. The other five universities will present a combined exhibit with the theme, "Your greatest contribution to the youth of Illinois—a college education."

Another new feature this year will be "The Women's World," designed to appeal and entertain the ladies. It will present a wide variety of activities including style shows, cosmetic and culinary demonstrations, jewelry, appliances, decorating and home and garden activities. A special event is being planned for each day at "The Women's World."

The state fair has a far more meaningful purpose than entertainment. It encourages the development of finer livestock and agriculture products and provides the showcase for displaying the great diversity of resources in Illinois which has helped Americans attain the world's highest standard of living.

School Merge Experiment

The merger of the Grove School program for children with perceptual handicaps into the operation of Oak Grove School, District 68, Lake County, was announced recently by Wright S. Travis, president of the Board of Directors of District 68, and Arsene J. Denoyer, President, The Grove School, Inc. Board of Directors. The school is located on Buckley and O'Plaine Roads northeast of Libertyville.

"After receiving the Grove School request for a merger several months ago, the School Board of District 68 made a lengthy study and held many consultations with school and special education authorities," Mr. Travis explained. "Our conclusion has been to undertake this as an experimental project. We want to do our part in helping exceptional children who do not fit into the existing programs of special education in Lake County. However, our most pressing concern was to make certain that such a program would not entail any financial burden to our own taxpayers in District 68. Happily, we are satisfied that they will have no cause for concern on this account."

Mr. Travis explained that the Grove School, now a unit of District 68, will continue to be dependent upon tuition from other school districts, grants from community and united funds and gifts from interested benefactors such as the Grove School Foundation. Travis advised that the school board's investigation revealed that the Grove School program is not expected to receive any state aid.

Along The Way

with Annie Mae

Good-bye! Adios! Au revoir! Auf Wiedersehen! No matter what the language, it is always difficult to say when one would rather not have to. This week we must somehow find the right way to say just that to two fine people.

First, to Jay Nash, our editor, who leaves us to take up duties with the new Milwaukee Daily. Controversial issues were the main course in his newspaper diet, and he presented them well. We shall miss his lengthy dissertations on Ernest Hemingway, of whom he spoke with genuine authority. May I use still another language to say "shalom aleichem" always!

Secondly, our gal "Friday" or any other day, Jean Homan, will depart to take up residence in Chicago. Her never-ending assistance in locating the things we have mislaid will be sorely missed. However, the consistency of her pleasant smile will definitely be our greatest loss. To her may I say "Vaya Con Dios" wherever you go.

THE LATEST REPORT: Ronnie Peters (Ill. Bell) and his wife are expecting a new number on their line. Mary Polley has just finished a tailoring course at So. Mississippi U. Nancy Seyfarth won a ribbon at the County Fair for her luscious looking chocolate cake.

Grace Strahan must have had a suitcase to carry home all the ribbons she won. Two V.I.P.s were in Waukegan hospitals this past week, Rep. W. J. Murphy and Mrs. M. E. Gaston, publisher of this here sheet.

FORGET-YOU-NOT The 22nd anniversary dance of the Rescue Squad this Saturday, they need your support. The Chicken Bar-B-Q and festival at the Prince of Peace church in Lake Villa, also this weekend.

THE LAST DROP: Howard Gaston has returned from his Canadian hang-out for a visit to his home. Howard Shepard had a lesson in sailing last Saturday when three J.C. men shanghaied him out to Fox Lake in a rainstorm. Art Meyer will have a hard time concealing his whereabouts in that car now.

Courthouse Notebook

by LOU BURNIN

County Board Chairman Robert Dickson is to be congratulated for his decisive action in shuttering The Last Resort, a Chain O' Lakes teen age hangout and maybe this will usher in a new era in Lake County.

The Last Resort has been notorious for the past two or three years as an oasis for teenagers who thought they were ready to switch bottles, but velvet glove efforts to make the operators toe the mark have been something less than successful.

It would be just fine if Mr. Dickson shows the same tough policy with other places in the county that thrive on illegal sales of liquor to minors.

There are a few places in the county that have been getting away with murder for years thereby putting the officials in a bad light and giving the entire tavern industry a bad name.

A real crackdown all along the line would benefit the legitimate dealers, cut down on work for the juvenile officials and get the law enforcement officials off the hook.

Miserable weather failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Republicans who turned out for the formal dedication of the GOP headquarters at County and Madison Sts. in Waukegan last Saturday.

The headquarters is being supported by the Lake County Republican Federation, a new organization dedicated to strengthening the GOP in Lake County.

Basically the federation will be a fund-raising and coordinating agency working with the regular Republican organization and the township and auxiliary groups in an effort to boost participation in GOP activities and stimulate voter interest.

There was considerable talk about victory at the state and national level during the dedication and a new realization that Lake County has not done as well as it should in party council.

There seems to be a feeling that Lake County, with a solid G.O.P. history, should have a greater voice in setting policies at the state and national levels and this apparently will be one of the goals of the federation.

Lake County moved a step closer to establishment of a county public works department as a result of a meeting at Gages Lake Monday night. Coming on the heels of a tour of the county conducted by the county health department the Gages Lake meeting provided some solid arguments in favor of a public works department which could coordinate efforts in the fields of sanitation, water supply, and flood control.

The tour sponsored by the health department showed rather conclusively that there is a tremendous and a very real need for better co-ordinated planning for sewage disposal in the unincorporated areas and even between the incorporated villages and cities.

It would seem that a county agency capable of working beyond municipal or township lines would be essential to meet the demands for planning and coordinating in this vital area.

Chairman Dickson will probably bring the subject to the floor of the board at next week's county board meeting and it is to be hoped that discussions will concentrate on the merits of the department and not go off on purely local or political tangents.

The summer golf tour moves from McHenry, where Bill Scott, GOP candidate for State Treasurer spoke before the McHenry County Central Committee, and guests, to Chevy Chase near Half Day, next week.

Occasion is the Bill Murphy Appreciation Golf Outing for State Rep. W. J. Murphy. Haste in securing tickets for the testimonial is recommended since they are reportedly moving swiftly.

Safety Seminar For Lake County Women

The Lake County Safety Commission will sponsor a coffee and safety seminar for Lake County women on Wednesday, Aug. 22, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon, at the Highland Park Woman's Club House, 1901 Sheridan Road, Highland Park.

All women's groups and organizations in the county are invited to send representatives. In addition, the meeting is open to individual women interested in safety.

According to Mr. E. G. Landen, Executive Director of the Lake County Safety Commission, this will be the first such event for Lake County women.

The meeting will provide an opportunity for the women's organizations to become acquainted with the work of the commission, learn the facts about Lake County's serious traffic problems, what the Commission is doing to meet the challenge, as well as other phases of safety.

The seminar "will pinpoint the fact that 'traffic safety is a woman's business, too,' and the Commission's desire to mobilize the necessary support of women in 'making safety a family affair'."

Mrs. Elmer Anderson, of Deerfield, a member of the Commission's Advisory Council, has been appointed chairman of Women's Safety Activities.

Invitations are being sent to representatives of various women's organizations in Lake County, including the Council of Church Women, the B'Nai B'Rith Women, American Legion Auxiliary Posts, Homemakers' Extension Units, the Women's clubs of the 10th Federated District, the PTA's, the DAR, and the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Anderson invites other women's groups or individual women interested in attending to contact the Lake County Safety Commission office at 211 Peterson Road, Libertyville, or telephone to EMpire 2-0470. Finalized program details will be announced at an early date.

Maggot Spray Is Resisted

A cabbage maggot that is resistant to the usual insecticides has shown up in the commercial cabbage fields of Kenosha and Racine counties, according to Lee Smith, County Horticultural agent.

Commercial growers have been using dieldrin and aldrin to control the cabbage maggot in the seed beds and fields. According to Keith Chapman, University of Wisconsin Entomologist, another insecticide will have to be used to control the resistant maggot.

Chapman recommended using VC-13 in the water used in transplanting of cabbage plants. It takes four quarts of the actual chemical in 50 gallons of water to do the job if 300 gallons are applied per acre. The chemical is quite toxic to people, so he recommends wearing rubber gloves when handling the material.

Guthion can also be used to control maggots. This chemical is sprayed on the fields within a few days after planting and again ten days later. The rate is one-half pound on the actual chemical per acre.

Smith said the adult of the cabbage maggot is a small, clear-winged fly about two-tenths of an inch long. This fly lays its eggs on or close to the cabbage plants. They hatch in a few days and the maggots attack the stem just below the surface of the soil, where they feed for about three weeks. When full grown the maggots pupate for a couple of weeks in the soil, after which they emerge as adults.

There are two to four generations of cabbage maggots a year, but it is only the earlier generations that cause much damage to cabbage roots.

Dittman believes the increase is due to people moving into the district. "We're picking up many transfer students," he said. "Which is just far enough northwest of Chicago so that we have not been getting the extreme exodus. Antioch is fortunate that we've been on the fringe of this pressure, but it's coming."

Teaching Staff Complete

The board of education of the high school met on August 1. If the board approved a teacher recommended by Mr. Dittman, the teaching staff will be complete. There will be forty-five teachers, of whom 50-55 per cent have their Master's degrees.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

TAKING BABY CALLING By William Kitay Member, National Assn. of Science Writers Editor, All About Babies

There are some children who are just wonderful when going calling. They are no cause for trouble, concern or embarrassment. There are others, though, who seem to have the knack of turning a social visit into a nightmare for both you and your hosts.

We have one of each in our house. Our son, when he was little, had the patience of Job. Given a small toy he would quietly amuse himself for hours. Even without a toy he seemed to have the ability to keep himself entertained and out of mischief.

Our daughter, when she was a toddler, was a terror. She was adept at emptying bookcases, dresser drawers and kitchen cabinets in seconds. She once spent all of an afternoon standing on her head in a corner of a couch to our embarrassment and the consternation of our hosts.

Now that both are grown, we can look back and from our experience offer several suggestions that might help readers: be welcome guests when they take baby calling.

1. Teach your child good behavior when you're at home. Never try to do it while visiting someone else's home.

2. Wait until you get home to discipline your child. People find it embarrassing to watch another's child being punished. Should your child misbehave, speak to him quietly, divert his attention by starting him on something new. Being irritated and losing your temper will not endear you to your hosts.

3. Be concerned with what your child is up to. Never permit a situation to develop in which your hosts are forced to scold your child.

4. Anticipate what your child might be up to. If he's headed for a serving tray full of cups of tea and pieces of cake, get there before he does. Avoid trouble by keeping an eye on him.

5. Most children do not have the patience to sit still for hours while adults chat. Take along a small unbreakable toy for him to play with. Let him look through magazines and wander around within your sight.

6. Keep a small collection of baby's toys in homes of friends and relatives you visit frequently. Children delight in rediscovering familiar toys and even look forward to visiting in anticipation of the toys they'll find.

7. When your child is tired and irritable, bring your visit to an end and take him home.

Dutch Elm Disease Spreads In Kenosha

The number of confirmed cases of Dutch elm disease in the rural areas of Kenosha County is ahead of last year's total as of this date, according to Lee Smith, Kenosha County Horticultural agent.

Plan For Fido, Says Motor Club

You're all set to go on that big vacation the whole family has looked forward to for a long time. You've planned your holiday down to the last detail except one "minor" one—whether or not to take the dog.

This is the wrong time to be thinking about it, according to the touring department of the Chicago Motor Club.

The motor club suggests that if you should decide to take "Fido" along, you should plan ahead with these tips in mind:

—Before you leave, find out if your dog gets car sick. Your veterinarian can supply you with sedatives or tranquilizers that will help quiet him, and advise you on your other items for the dog's comfort.

—If your vacation will take you across state or international borders, you'll probably need a health or rabies certificate for your pet. See your veterinarian before you leave so that your dog can have a check-up and necessary vaccination.

—The time to find out whether dogs are permitted at the hotel or motel where you will be staying is when writing for reservations, not when you arrive. This can prevent embarrassment and delays.

—While driving, keep your dog in the back seat, away from the driver, but don't let him hang his head out the window.

—Stop frequently to give your dog an airing; everybody will enjoy the chance to stretch. Keep your dog on a leash in National Parks and other areas where dogs must be restricted.

The American Automobile Association has conducted a survey among several thousand motel operators to determine guest problems. About half of the motel operators said that most of their guests who own pets travel with them. One-third of the establishments accept them, the survey showed.

A small percentage of motel managers said they welcome pets—that they are better risks than some people. One motel manager wrote: "Pets are welcome. They do not smoke, they do not drink, and do not spill things on rugs. They are not price conscious. We love 'em."

Easter Seal President Retires to Teaching

J. N. Van Cleave, president of the Lake County Easter Seal Society and a charter member of the organization for aid of crippled children and adults, submitted his resignation at a recent "Dutch Treat" dinner meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Adria's Restaurant.

Van Cleave, a Fox Lake school administrator and former assistant Lake County Superintendent of Schools, has retired and plans to move to Arizona where he will divide his time between playing golf and teaching at the University of Arizona.

Succeeding Van Cleave as head of the volunteer health agency will be Hymen Poretz, Waukegan newspaper distributor and a veteran member of the board.

In announcing his retirement from the Easter Seal chapter with which he has been associated for 14 years, Van Cleave expressed his appreciation for the cooperation he received from the board members and urged them to continue the tradition of service at the Easter Seal Treatment Center.

In his last official act as president Van Cleave appointed a special committee of Lou Durkin, Waukegan public relations consultant; City Judge L. Eric Carey, of Zion, and Dr. Arthur Baker, director of the Lake County Public Health Department, to arrange the chapter's annual meeting.

Past President Richard W. Flagg, presented Van Cleave with a gift of appreciation on behalf of the Trustees.

In the business session Charles W. Moody, executive director of the Illinois Association for Crippled Children and Adults, revealed that a program to enlarge the geographic representation on the county chapter's Board of Trustees would be undertaken in the next few weeks.

Moody said Tom Shrewsbury, a member of the state staff, would work with the local board in securing trustees from each section of the county to expand the area of influence of the society.

Reporting on activities at the Rehabilitation Center, Chief Therapist Pearl Alexander explained the need to hire a paid speech therapist to supplement the part-time staff now operating the speech program.

Long Hours, Low Pay For Ministers

A new survey of America's Protestant ministers shows that they are still among the most overworked and underpaid professional men in the country. They are also the most uncomplaining. But professional research reveals that over 63 per cent of ministers find that administration takes too much of their time. Nearly 50 per cent feel they do not have enough time for study and prayer. And there is no 40-hour week for ministers. Their work week averages 70 hours.

The 1962 survey, sponsored by Ministers Life and Casualty Union, Minneapolis, which sells insurance of all kinds only to clergymen, their dependents, and other persons in full-time church-related work, showed a slight improvement in ministers' finances since 1958 when a similar survey was made. Still, 42 per cent of ministers find finances are a definite problem, and only 29 per cent say that finances are no problem. Two most critical money problems for ministers are long-range ones of how to finance college education for their children (65 per cent wonder how they'll manage it) and what housing they will have in retirement (60 per cent expect to reach retirement with no housing provided). Over 39 per cent of ministers report their finances are inadequate to meet basic living expenses.

A leaflet reporting the results of the 1962 survey of ministers' problems and comparing them with the 1958 results is available free from Ministers Life, Minneapolis 16, Minn.

The newspapers prime function is the presentation of NEWS—
quickly - impartially - completely

Bill and Anne Palmer live over on Church street in a nice little brick house. They might be people you know, because they're just average folks. They like to keep themselves informed about what's happening where, and why—and they like to know about the things that happen—WHEN they happen. So—they read the newspaper.

There's a lot of significance to that. There's a lot of Bill and Anne Palmers in the world and most of them are hungry for news of that world. Naturally they turn to the one source they can depend on, that they've ALWAYS depended on, ever since they were kids. Their newspaper. They KNOW that the prime function of that newspaper is the presentation of the News—quickly, impartially, completely. That's what your newspaper does for you. And it's an important job.

This is the ninth year of the Foundation's Student Aid Program. Over 200 students have received financial help during one or more of their college years since the scholarship program was initiated.

The grants are made to children of Abbott employees who plan to enter or who are now attending a college or university. Students must have a good scholastic record and participate in worthwhile extracurricular activities.

THE ANTIOCH GARDEN CLUB will hold its all-day workshop on August 9 at 10 a.m. Mrs. Emil Walker, nationally-known lecturer and flower show judge, will present a special horticultural program to the group. (Antioch News Photo)

Don't Get Stuck—Klip Your Baby

If you want to make a million dollars—or even if you want the world to beat a path to your door—don't waste your time trying to think up a better mousetrap.

No, the best way to attract a lot of profitable attention nowadays is to dream up an improvement on some product necessary to the health and happiness of the "King of the Hill," better known in most households as "Baby" or, occasionally, as "That qualling brat."

A group of young people in Clifton Forge, Virginia, have apparently done just that. Their product is called the "Di-D-Klip," and it's just what it sounds like—a clip to replace the old-fashioned safety pin in anchoring baby's seat covers. There seems to be no apparent reason why the Klip couldn't be used to replace a pin in other places, if you're the sloppy type who does this. It also has another tremendous advantage—it looks as though it would be very practical to clip the kid's mouth shut when he gets a little older and screams "Mommy!" or says "Why" for the millionth time in one day. It can be snatched off when someone knocks on the door without leaving any visible injury to your darling child and exposing you to an accusation of being brutal to the infant.

The idea for the "Di-D-Klip" was conceived by a young registered nurse, and worked out by her brother, an electrical engineer. A group of young friends became enthused over the idea of marketing the product, and a factory to produce the Klip is now operating in Eagle Rock, Virginia, providing employment for a small but growing number of workers in the heart of one of the nation's depressed areas.

We haven't had a chance to field test the product, but it appears practical. At least it has no sharp points. If it works out and comes into wide usage, the manufacturers will undoubtedly eventually come out with a few luxury editions, such as solid gold or diamond trimmed Klips for the child who has everything.

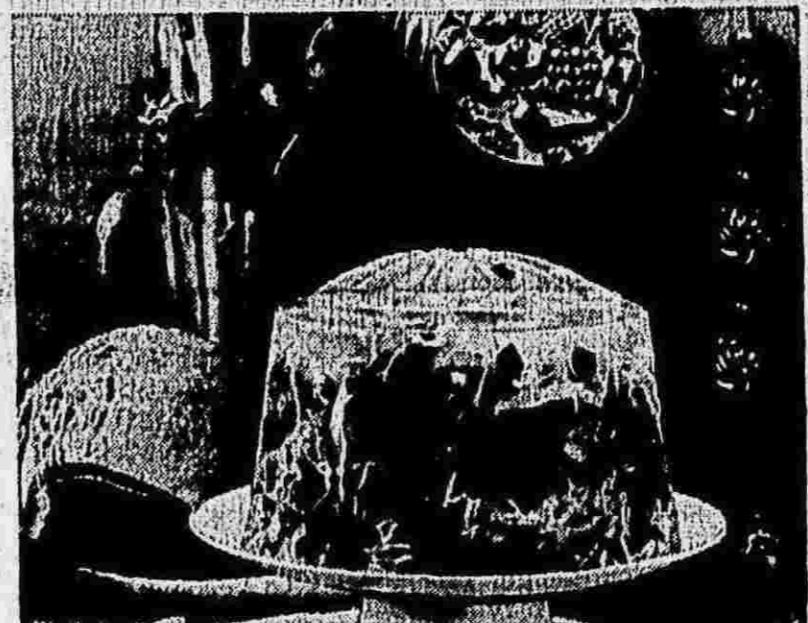

Central High Announces Register Now

Central High School, at Paddock Lake, will begin its annual registration of all new students on Aug. 15. It was announced today by Vernon O. Horne, the school's new principal. All entering freshmen and all new upper-classmen must present themselves, accompanied by at least one parent, during this period which ends on Aug. 29. The school will be open for this purpose from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. every day except Saturday and Sunday.

For the convenience of those parents who find it impossible to attend during the day, two night sessions will be held, on Thursday, Aug. 16, and Thursday, Aug. 23, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Orientation activities for the new students begin on Aug. 30.

Diet Note: The Loser Wins!

In fighting the battle of the bulge, the winner is the dieter who loses pounds. And unflavored gelatin is a mighty weapon in the hands of the weight-watcher. An envelope of unflavored gelatin dissolved in fruit juice, vegetable juice, or bouillon provides an excellent low-calorie, high-protein snack. Unflavored gelatin is an all-protein food, and the envelope amount contains only 28 calories. (The unflavored-gelatin drink has another advantage—taken over a three-month period, it can help strengthen cracked and brittle fingernails.) As every dieter knows, unflavored gelatin goes into a variety of superb low-calorie dishes. Perfection Salad, for instance, is so delicious that it has become an American classic.

Perfection Salad

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups cold water, divided
Mix together gelatin, sugar and salt in a saucepan. Stir in 1/4 cup of the cold water. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in remaining 1/4 cup water and vinegar. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in cabbage, celery and green pepper. Turn into a 6-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. If desired, unmold on salad greens. Yield: 6 servings, 44 calories per serving.

Bank Robbers...

ing groggy from the pill he had taken.

Mrs. Sletten replied, "Oh, you know who that is. Ed. That's Vera Horton."

The intruders turned to Mrs. Sletten and one said, "She's not asleep yet." As the questioning of Mr. Sletten continued, Mrs. Sletten feigned sleep.

Only once, it was reported, did the intruders raise their voices in a rough manner and that was when Mr. Sletten stated that he did not know how much money was in the bank's vault. Aside from that, the hooded individuals standing in the shadows of the room were extremely polite.

Mr. Sletten was told that he was going to accompany them to the bank where he would open the vault. He stated that that was impossible since it is operated by a time mechanism.

Taking Mr. Sletten's key to the front door of the bank, plus $25 in miscellaneous cash, the robbers taped Mrs. Sletten's mouth, cut the telephone wires and fled.

Several hours passed before Mr. Sletten could work himself loose from his bonds. He then went to a neighbor's home and called for Dr. Abderhalden and the police.

When police arrived, they discovered that the intruders had entered the Sletten home through a broken window. Since they wore gloves, no fingerprints were available for police study.

The intruders were suspected of having arms of some sort since they threatened to "shoot" if there was trouble, but no guns were seen by the Slettens.

Since that time, as would be expected, the 1st National Bank has been on a stakeout by special squads of police.

Chief Deputy Sheriff

THE ANTIOCH NEWS / 4 THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1962

Charles E. Larson in an over-the-phone interview stated that it "seems ridiculous that they would try anything now." Larson went on to say that he could figure no real motive for the intruders' actions since the bank was not robbed and the Sletten home was left comparatively undisturbed.

Who Dry Cleaned Johnnie Reb's Clothes In 1861?

Well, if you read your history books, you'll find that soldiers North and South, 100 years ago, either soaked their clothes in a creek or wore them dirty. Dry cleaning had not been invented. How to figure the "extras" you get on U.S. Savings Bonds

Because U.S. Savings Bonds return you so much more than money, you may have some trouble figuring the full return. For one thing, when you invest in U.S. Savings Bonds, you put money to work right now for your country and for the things your country stands for. Such as the defense of freedom.

When you redeem your Bonds, the Government then pays you dollars and cents interest for the privilege of having made use of your funds this way. Actually, you get back 33 1/3% more money at maturity than you put in.

The extra benefit lies in the important fact that you'll have also helped protect your freedom to enjoy the money. If you agree that this is a worthwhile return on an investment, why not make it a $100.00 Bond next time? Cost: just $75.00.

You get your name on a valuable document for saving money and the freedom to enjoy it.

This man hopes you won't buy U.S. Savings Bonds. But free men everywhere hope you will because Bonds make us stronger, individually and as a nation.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks The Advertising Council and this newspaper for their patriotic support.

Keeping Up with the Joneses Gives the Joneses the Willies

May I present Mr. & Mrs. Jones, the "keeping up with" ones. Perhaps you have never met them, but it is certain you have heard of their situation. Did you notice the nervous little twitch in the "too quick" smile of Mr. Jones? You see he doesn't smile often any more; he's long since learned a smile at the wrong time will only get him in trouble. By the way, his initials are T. P., stands for Trouble Prone. I know you felt Mrs. Jones' handshake slightly resembled that of a wet rubber glove. Because she extended her warm handclasp to a few who turned it verbally into a clawing, she is wary of any extended arm today.

Oh, yes, they were plain folks, very much like you and I, before all this took place. Often times now they look back and try to recall how it all began. Seems that the best they can remember it was buying a higher priced car and a second TV set. It was about the same time T. P. happened to get a sizeable bonus from the company and his great-great uncle died. All his Uncle left was enough for the second TV set, but the dangerous precedent was now on its way. From then on he wouldn't dare enter any type of contest or drawing, for, if he might happen to win, the comments went like this: "Them that has gets, Money goes to Money!"

Now began the terrible rise of Mr. Jones, and if you thought he lived on easy street, listen to his story. His family must shop at the better stores, for if they don't they are considered "penny pinchers." Giving parties became a problem; if they were small gatherings, he was "Aloof," and when the parties were large (to avoid offending anyone) he was a "Social Climber."

Charities plague him, and his donations are always regarded as too small, no matter what the amount. When he doesn't contribute to a cause, "He lacks any Civic Pride!" The government doesn't need a Special Tax Agent to watch him; all his neighbors do!

If he laughs readily, he's a "Buffoon!" While if he is quiet and sober, "He is a snob!" Should his children be bright in school, they are "Favored Pupils," and when they act like yours or mine they're "Brats with too much money!" When he treats a business acquaintance to lunch, "He's trying to buy his way!" But if he never buys, he's a "Tightwad!" The sad ending to this story is that no one really knows his income or economic standing. Because he splurged and bought a larger automobile, the mad race of "Keeping up with the Joneses" was on. Everyone started running and buying and all of a sudden we couldn't remember who were the Joneses and who were the Keepers Upers! Do you?

Effective January 1, 1962 the annual purchase limit on Series H Savings Bonds was raised from $10,000 to $20,000. Individuals as co-owners may acquire a greater total amount during 1962 provided that no more than $20,000 is apportioned to any one of them. Fiduciaries, organizations and other classes of investors can invest $20,000 annually for any separate legal entity. The limitation does not apply to H Bonds acquired through authorized reinvestment or exchange of other savings bonds. The limit on E Bonds continues unchanged at $10,000 face value. Beginning February 1, 1962, owners of maturing Series H Bonds issued from June 1952 through January 1957, have the option of retaining them for an additional period of 10 years at the uniform rate of 3.75% interest, payable semi-annually. No action is required to take advantage of this extension privilege. The extended H bond may be redeemed at any time by giving the usual one-calendar month's notice.

Antioch Team Will Compete

Young track and swimming stars from 18 communities in the northeastern part of the state will converge upon the Northwestern University campus in Evanston Saturday to compete for sectional honors in the annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree.

First place winners in each event of the meet will be awarded an expense-paid trip to Sterling for the state finals, August 23-25, as the guests of the Illinois Youth Commission.

The statewide youth fitness program is sponsored by the Youth Commission each year with the cooperation of the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce. More than 45,000 children entered this year, taking part in local meets in 110 different towns.

Saturday's meet will get under way at 10 a.m., following registration at 9. Track and field events will be run off at Dyche stadium, and swimmers will compete in the indoor pool at Patton gym.

Antioch is one of the towns sending teams to both the track and swimming competition.

Steve Ryzko, Sr., Rt. 3, Box 356, of Antioch caught one of the tagged bluegills in the Pepsi Fishing Derby and received an ice bucket and cooler combination for his catch. First prize in the contest is a 1962 Ford Falcon Station Wagon for catching the No. 1 fish, Charlie, a Northern Pike. No. 2 tag is carried by Harvey the Bass, and is worth $1,000. Suzie the bluegill carries No. 3 worth $500. There are numerous other tagged fish worth lesser prizes. Rules in the contest can be found at most resorts and stores selling Pepsi.

Heart News Beat

Contrary to popular opinion, a heart attack does not mean the end of the road for most people. The majority of those with heart conditions do go back to work, and many of these return to their same jobs. There are nearly ten million Americans with diseases of the heart and blood vessels, and the great majority of them are useful, happy citizens.

The Heart Council of Lake County offers the following advice to help the heart patient and his family:

- Remember that your heart is a powerful organ. With medical help, and your own help, it can take you a long way.
- Be hopeful. Pessimism doesn't win battles.
- Follow your doctor's advice. Question him about anything that puzzles or bothers you. Keep the rules up to date with your progress.
- Start on the comeback road as early as possible, which is as early as the doctor gives you the nod.
- There are always other sports and hobbies that are fun if old ones are taboo. Open your eyes to discover new interests and attractions. Many heart patients have found that at last they could relax and take time to discover a new world about them.
- You must take some responsibility for your own recovery.
- Be honest with yourself, and try to live up to your capabilities.

Go-Karts Restricted From Public Highways

Springfield — Small motor vehicles of the go-kart type cannot, in most cases, be legally operated on public thoroughfares, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter warned today, and asked for police assistance in halting their illegal operation.

This is particularly true of youngsters under the age of 16 years, he said, because the Drivers License Law requires that all operators of all motor vehicles hold valid driver licenses.

In a memorandum to all sheriffs and police chiefs in Illinois, Secretary Carpenter said legal operation of motor vehicles on public thoroughfares requires that the vehicles be registered with the state and display license plates.

Lindenhurst Little League

By Mrs. Bernice Bernau
Results of the Lake Villa Township Little League ending July 29:

Dodgers, 0, Braves 7
Pirates 4, Yanks 3
Sox 5, Braves 3
Pirates 8, Cubs 2
Yanks 12, Dodgers 6

Standings are as follows: Sox, Pirates, Dodgers, Cubs, Braves, and Yanks.

Schedule for the weekend: August 2 and 3 will be rain-out games. August 4 will be a position game, fifth place team against sixth place team. Sunday, Aug. 5, will be a double header, with first and second place teams playing against each other, and third and fourth place teams battling it out. That should be the end of the Little League for this season.

Sunday afternoon the managers, coaches, umpires and a few of the boys played a game. The team that had Ray Parpan for captain won 8 to 7 from Joe Hamm's team. Heard there was a lot of aching muscles in the fellows that hadn't played for years.

A team made up of Patricia Hamm, Harriet Bonovitz, Elaine Miklausch, Pauline Heick, Helen Jacobs, Annette Peterson, Stephanie Tumminello, Marge Salzeider, Marion Dobslof, Betty Hoelter and Mary Favelli played a team of fellows. The women skunked the men, who shall be nameless. The fellows claim they were robbed, and that the women had to call time to make adjustments (pulling down their girdles, and adjust shoulder straps). Such excuses, just because they had to bat left-handed and run around the bases backwards and a few other changes.

It's A Sore Point — Footnotes on Modern Style

By Pearl Kapell

I wish I were a man. I never have before. I've always been glad I didn't have to stand on my head, or spend all my money, to convince the object of my affections of my ardor. I've felt very sorry for men when I watched them unwillingly get their teeth knocked down their throats when the little woman prodded them into avenging some imaginary and probably deserved insult to her womanhood. I've always felt anyone fortunate to be born a female had a good thing going and she should appreciate it.

Not any more. And for just one reason. My feet hurt.

They hurt because some sadist decreed that women's shoes, to be fashionable, must have pointed toes—with the point in the middle, yet. My feet don't. My shoes do. Consequently, every step I take, my longest, or big toe, rams into the curved end of this monstrosity. It's sore. For some reason, all my toes are sore. Even the middle one, which, by all reasoning, should have more space in the point of the shoe than it needs, is sore.

It would seem that the whole problem would be to buy bigger shoes. I tried it. It doesn't work. I bought shoes so big I had a half inch gap between my heel and the heel of the shoe. Now my toes are sore and I also have blisters on my heels. Every step I took, my foot slid forward into the unnaturally shaped toe, and the loose heel rubbed up and down my heel until the skin was removed, also a goodly wad of flesh.

Whoever designed these shoes obviously hated all women. And the only excuse I can find for women going along with this self-torture is either lack of character or the fact that there isn't any other kind for sale. I, of course, wear them for the latter reason.

The extremely thin high heels that go with pointed toes create a double problem. The heels, of course, sink into and through every small opening. Recently, I was stepping jauntily down a crowded Loop street in Chicago; well, I was trying to step jauntily. (Actually, I was wincing along gingerly) when my heel went through a narrow grating and stuck there. This left one foot anchored firmly to earth while the rest of me proceeded in full flight forward. This is a very untenable position.

My captive foot would not slip from the shoe. My free leg was advanced in a lunging position. To maintain my balance, I flung both arms sideways. Teetering there, I must have looked like a rather awkward ballet dancer, poised to leap into mid-air but not quite able to make it.

I was embarrassed. The hurrying people who passed me didn't even slow their steps. They simply parted and flowed around me. Those who deigned to glance at me had a "what are you—some kind of a nut?" look on their faces. I fixed a bright smile on my face and tried to look like a poised woman of the world who is caught in an unfortunate position. I felt like a bumbling idiot, and probably looked like one.

Fortunately, I had two stalwart companions. One on each side, they grasped my arms and freed me. Otherwise, I might still be poised in downtown Chicago, trying to look nonchalant and starving to death.

My feet hurt and I have been publicly humiliated. All because someone decreed that women's shoes should have pointed toes and thin heels. Men's shoes are big and flat and solid and look deliciously comfortable. So don't be surprised if you see me walking down the street in men's shoes. If I'm going to look ridiculous, I might as well be comfortable while I'm doing it.

Doctors Find Sheepskins Have Many Uses

Many physicians hang their medical school sheepskins on their office walls. Now some of them are putting sheepskins on their patients' beds to help prevent bedsores that still are a problem when hospital stay is lengthy.

Brought on by pressure, friction and moisture—conditions hard to eliminate—bedsores can be treated and cured, but previously little could be done to prevent them.

Now, however, an Australian physician reports in What's New, Abbott's Laboratories' publication, to the medical profession, that he is testing a new method of reducing bedsores by using sheets made of sheepskin.

The article discusses a technique presently being tested at the Alford Hospital, Melbourne, Australia, where patients are encouraged to lie without gown or pajamas, on sheets made of sheepskin. "Some find them too hot in summer but the majority won't give them up, even on the hottest days," the article says.

The sheets are made from the skins of merino sheep whose coats are a dense, soft springy fleece. Normally they are clipped to about one inch. The sheets accommodate most patients from shoulders to knees.

According to Dr. M. R. Ewing, an Australian physician who reports on the test, "the skins are chrome tanned to withstand laundering and sterilization." "Sometimes the fleece becomes lumpy and less resilient after heavy use, but one skin still afforded comfort after three months' use by a 168 lb. man," the article noted.

A story also credits others who have taken advantage of the sheepskins' properties. Their use has been reported in the American Journal of Nursing by M. B. Woodruff and by Luther Davis, Jr., at the Druid General Hospital, Tuscaloosa, Ala. Another physician of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. J. D. Godfrey, also indicated that he has used deer-hides for a number of years.

A news magazine has reported that sheepskin sheets are used by "Milwaukee's F. G. Gaenslen, and El Paso's L. W. Breck and S. Gonzales." The latter two reported "with thousands of patients they have seen virtually no bed ulcers."

Lindenhurst News

By Mrs. Bernice Bernau
Editor 6-3649

The Lindenhurst Women's Club collected $178.28 Wednesday evening in their house to house canvass for the maintenance of Millmore Beach in West Milwaukee. Mrs. John Janega collected $38.50 in the unincorporated section of Lindenhurst. Representing the Women's Club, Mrs. Paul Ireland, president of the Lindenhurst Women's Club, presented William Beal, treasurer of the West Milwaukee Community Center with a check for $200.26 which included $25.00 donated by the Women's Club.

The money will probably be used to purchase sand for the beach, or whatever else is needed. Anyone living in Lindenhurst, Venetian Village and West Milwaukee are allowed to use the beach.

The seventeen ladies who collected donations were Mesdames Esther Sokup, Zenia Neumann, Helen Guszki, Evelyn Lazansky, Carol Bogda, Betty Ireland, Lois Flanagan, Shirley Mertes, Erlene Pearce, Peggy Panzer, Millie Caldwell, Jannette Piefer, Mary Jane Ploss, Norma Gibbs, Dorothy Thompson, Nancy Gleffner and Bernice Bernau.

New Residents

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tordin bought the Gene Baker home at 2215 Witchwood Lane and moved in in June. They have a daughter, Susan, 10, and two sons, M. C. 8, and L. E. 4. Those letters aren't the boys' initials, or nicknames. They are their actual names, and are on their birth certificates.

Tony and Ariel are from Kansas City, Mo. They have been married 12 years. Ariel and the children were staying with her parents near Madison, Wis., for about six months while Tony found a place for them here and found a job. He is employed by the Outboard Marine Corporation in Waukegan. He enjoys bowling, and bowled with a team last season. The children have been going to Millmore beach quite a bit since they moved here and enjoy the water very much.

Robert and Sharon Bunkelman moved into their new home recently at 2206 East Sprucewood. They formerly lived in Antioch. They have been married five years and have two children, Leanne 4, and Bradley 2 1/2.

Sharon used to be a telephone operator, but now has a full time job with her children. In her spare time she reads, or ice skates during the winter months.

Bob works for the Public Service in Northbrook. He is an ardent fisherman, and has an ice shack that he set up on Lake Geneva last winter while he fished. During the smelting season he catches "millions" of them in Lake Michigan.

"Night-Owls"

Betty Janega was hostess to the "Night-Owls" Friday evening. The girls play canasta. Ing Spiegler won an inflatable drip-dry hanger. Ellen Marsh won a box of dusting powder and Helen Mindak won a gallon size beer mug.

Over their coffee and cake the girls made plans for their night out. They are going to see Walter Pidgeon and Martha Scott in the "Complaisant Lover" and have dinner at the Waukegan Inn, on August 26.

Vacation

Mrs. Jenny Szydlowski of 60 North Brookline and her granddaughter, Amy Mindak of 105 North Hawthorne Drive returned from an eight day tour to Washington, D. C. last Tuesday. They went by bus to Washington and stayed at the Annapolis Hotel for five days.

Bottle Caps

Residents are asked to save their Pepsi Cola and Teen bottle caps with the plus, for the Lindenhurst Women's Club. The time for turning them in has been extended. The Club recently received a check for $25.92. The money will be used to purchase equipment for the Lindenhurst Civic Center.

Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Krakowski were guests of honor at a surprise silver anniversary party Sunday at the home of Mrs. Krakowski's sister, Miss Jean Cymbal in Chicago. Assisting her was the Krakowskis' oldest daughter, Mrs. Fred Reibert of Waukegan.

Festival

The Annual Summer Festival at Prince of Peace Church in Lake Villa will open Thursday evening, August 2 at 7 p.m. There will be rides for the children and grownups, including a pony ride. Electrical appliances, groceries, hams, and toys will be disposed of during the four day affair with a 1962 Ford Falcon being driven away Sunday night by someone in the area.

After 2 p.m. on Saturday bakery goods and vegetables will be for sale. Also, on Sunday after all masses.

Starting at noon on Sunday, a delicious chicken barbecue dinner will be served until 7 p.m.

Visitors

Adeline Komanecky's sister, Mary Arnold and her husband, Gerald of Harrisburg, Pa., were visitors here last Wednesday and Thursday.

Tom is another Navy man who has settled down in Lindenhurst. He was a Chief when he retired about a year ago, after being in service 24 years, and now works at Abbott's.

They lived in Waukegan for five years before moving here last December. They have one son, Michael, 22 years old living at home with them. Mrs. Komanecky works as a waitress at the Green Mill in Grayslake.

Altar and Rosary

The August Communion Sunday of the Prince of Peace Altar Society has been postponed until August 19.

Benedictine Fathers on TV

The Benedictine Fathers of Benet Lake will sing a High Mass which can be seen on August 5, 9 to 10 a.m. over Milwaukee Station WTMJ-TV.

Gad-Abouts

Sunday afternoon the "Gad-about's" and their husbands dined at the Gay Nineties in Hillside. Seven-thirty found them all in their seats watching "Kiss Me, Kate" at the Melody Top Theatre. Earl Wrightson and Jane Morgan were the stars. Some of the biggest laughs weren't written into the script. One laugh getter was when an airplane flew so low and made so much noise Wrightson had to stop singing until the plane flew by so he could be heard. The other was when Miss Morgan had the train of her dress torn off by the two fellows who were pulling her on stage. She just picked it up and threw it aside. (A word of advice: if you can't get tickets for the first three rows, you better skip the show. Just watching actors from the waist up isn't very enjoyable.)

Joe LaBarbera, Tony Drago and Ed Bernau drove while John Sutherland, Hank Uebele and Frank Mindak and the wives enjoyed being chauffeured for one night.

Hospital Patient
Mrs. Barbara Hendrickson was rushed to Victory Memorial Hospital Monday night by the Lake Villa Rescue Squad, when she suffered great pain from a slipped disc. Sunday evening she was released from the hospital when the disc went back into place.

Sympathy
Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Vicky Reibert.
